

2020 GNFAC Season Summary

Submitted by Doug Chabot on Mon, 04/13/2020 - 10:55

Winter is not going down without a fight, but we have concluded our 30th season of daily avalanche forecasts. A 10" early snowstorm prompted our first bulletin of the year on September 26. Snow continued, folks flocked to the mountains and we issued 17 bulletins before our daily advisories started on November 30. By April 5th we had issued 128 daily advisories including 2 days of avalanche warnings, and will continue posting weather and snowpack updates twice a week through April. This was a good winter on many fronts: no avalanche fatalities and plenty of snowfall. Our snowpack depth (SWE) is currently measured to be 113-119% of average.
